Brown Stripe in the Pride Flag

*Poll Finds Gay Men and Older LGBT People Are Most Opposed To A Brown Stripe In The Pride
Flag To Represent People Of Color ,*

But LGBT people of color, younger LGBT folks, and queer and transgender people are more likely to support the change.

Most LGBT Americans don't want a brown and black stripe added to the rainbow flag, according to a new national survey. The poll found that gay men, whites, and baby boomers were most resistant to updating the flag in order to represent LGBT people of color . . . while younger and nonwhite LGBT people were more inclined to support the change.

The poll, taken by 880 LGBT adults around the United States, found that 58% oppose the new stripes, while 42% support the change. The largest blocs of opposition were found among gay men and those over 50, with both groups opposing the additional colors 70% to 30%. White LGBT people oppose the change 62% to 38%.

The research was conducted by Whitman Insight Strategies and BuzzFeed news as part of a larger LGBTQ survey on life, politics, and identity. The margin of error overall is plus or minus 3.3%.

OVER-EASY BREAKFAST

Submitted by Jim Mickel, Reporter-At-Large

It was a chilly morning, typical this time of year, but 11 Prime Timers did show up at Zaidy's Jewish Restaurant in Cherry Creek.

Think a lot of us had a corned beef dish of some kind? With chunks of corned beef which was a surprise. Servings were very adequate, enough to bring some home.

Zaidy's is an older very large restaurant with easy parking right in front. It isn't far out like a New York Deli Restaurant is.

Due to the long table, very little visiting at each end until we got up to leave. All in all, everyone seemed to be happy and content.

Thank you, Darrel, we hadn't been to Zaidy's in a long time and it was a nice return.
Next Over-Easy will be in January. Happy
New Year!

NIGHT ON THE TOWN

Submitted by Jim Mickel, Reporter-At-Large

In spite of it being election evening, 9 Prime Timers met at Carrabba's Italian Restaurant in Aurora. Very nice restaurant, serving excellent Italian cuisine. Everyone was very pleased.

Adult beverages and wine which is a must with every Italian meal.

We had a very nice gentleman waiter, also nice to look at, friendly, efficient and tried to please us the entire time.

We were lucky, coming from the west side, no traffic problems. You have to give yourself extra time any more with traffic like it is.

Thank you, Chef Charles, and we will see you in January at the Cheesecake Factory downtown. Happy New Year!

The World's Six Best Doctors worth reading twice!

Steve Jobs died a billionaire at age 56.

This is his final essay:

I reached the pinnacle of success in the business world. In some others' eyes. my life is the epitome of success. However, aside from work, I have little joy. In the end, my wealth is only a fact of life that I am accustomed to. At this moment, lying on my bed and recalling my life, I realize that all the recognition and wealth that I took so much pride in have paled and become meaningless in the face of my death.

You can employ someone to drive the car for you, make money for you but you cannot have someone bear your sickness for you. Material things lost can be found or replaced. But there is one thing that can never be found when it's lost . . . Life. Whichever stage in life you are in right now, with time, you will face the day when the curtain comes down.

Treasure love for your family, love for your souse, love for your friends. Treat yourself well and cherish others. As we grow older, and hopefully wiser, we realize that a $300 or a $30 watch both tell the same time. You will realize that your true inner happiness does not come from the material things of this world. Whether you fly first class or economy, if the plane goes down . . . you go down with it.

Therefore, I hope you realize, when you have mates, buddies and old friends, brothers and sisters, who you chat with, laugh with, talk with, have sing songs with, talk about north-south-east-west or heaven and earth, that is true happiness! Don't educate your children to be rich. Educate them to be happy. So when they grow up they will know the value of things and not the price. Eat your food as your medicine, otherwise you have to eat medicine as your food.

The one who loves you will never leave you for another because, even if there are 100 reasons to give up, he or she will find a reason to hold on. There is a big difference between a human being and being human. Only a few really understand it. You are loved when you are born. You will be loved when you die. In between, you have to manage!

“The six best doctors in the world are sunlight, rest, exercise, diet, self-confidence and friends. Maintain them in all stages and enjoy a healthy life.”

People of color have been at the vanguard of LGBT political advocacy and culture for decades, and yet, they have long been denied full recognition . . . representation . . . for their contributions. The 2015 movie Stonewall, for example, portrayed a white man at the genesis of the modern LGBT movement while downplaying people of color and transgender women. LGBT bars have also been accused of racial discrimination.

Activists have sought a visible statement of racial inclusion, which was created by the artist Gilbert Baker in 1978. The rainbow banner originally had two additional stripes . . . pink and turquoise . . . to represent sex and magic, representatively, but those colors were dropped over the years. Debate around adding a black and brown stripe flared in June 2017 when the city of Philadelphia flew the flag with a brown and black stripe at City Hall and promoted the message “More color, more pride.”

Many LGBT people support it. The survey found that LGBT people of color narrowly agree with updating the flag, 52% to 48%, while queer people and transgender people support the change 64% and 69%, respectively.

The most pronounced split was generational. LGBT people between the ages of 18 and 29 appear to lean toward a more inclusive flag . . . 53% support and 47% oppose . . . while less than a fifth of baby boomers agree.

Support was stronger among lesbians and bisexuals than among gay men . . . 41% of lesbians and 47% of bisexuals said that they support the new stripes.

BROTHERS FROM THE PAST

Written by Cecil Bethea, August, 2006).

John, Lord Hervey, (1696-1743) was a politician of high standing during the reign of King George II. His position at Court was secured by his close friendship with Queen Caroline. In addition The Prince of Wales shared his mistress with Hervey. At twenty-three he made a love match with Molly Lepal, which union produced eight children. He was also a bisexual.

Hervey's wife did not object to his dalliances outside the marriage bed. Eight children would encourage such an attitude. For example when Hervey was thirty-one. he did an eighteen month long grand tour of Italy with Stephen Fox. Obviously they 'were smitten with each other. In fact, Fox suggested the tour. Politically they were different; Fox sat amongst the Tories in the House of Commons while Hervey, in the Lords, was close associate of Sir Robert Walpole, the Whig Prime Minister.

Hervey wrote to Fox, “I hear you in the deadest silence and see you in the deepest darkness”. Two lines of poetry were:

*Thou dearest youth, who taught me first to know
What pleasures from a real friendship flow . . .”*

We may safely say that Fox and Hervey had become an “item” especially after they set themselves up in a house near St. Jame's Palace. Hervey, as Vice-Chamberlain of the Royal Household, had to live in the palace;

so a nearby snuggerly was desirable if not necessary. This cohabitation resulted in reactions from the Whigs. One wrote a pamphlet, “There is a certain unnatural, reigning vice, indecent and almost shocking to mention . . .” Such critics were so repetitive in their denunciations. Hervey fought a dual with one writer with both receiving scratches.

Hervey was so busy with governmental duties that he neglected to write his wife letters. One offer letters to Fox asks him to keep her informed of her husband.

Hervey was an intellectual, knowledgeable about all the eighteenth century arts and sciences. Fox was merely a country gentleman who gradually began to feel inferior to his Hervey. Fox, with an estate in Somerset, developed a desire to marry and produce an heir. Hervey helped in the marriage negotiations with a wealthy heiress. Before leaving office, Hervey had obtained a peerage for Fox. The two must have parted slowly on good terms . . . not in a scene filled with wild accusations. Their passion had lasted for six years, which is a long time for this kind of passion.

Next in Hervey's life was Francesco Algarotti, another extraordinary person of the eighteenth century . . . certainly one of the most extraordinary gays.

Algarotti had been born to a merchant family in Padua and had received a very good education. At twenty, he was received in Paris by Voltaire, who dubbed him the “Swan Of Padua.” As he was writing a book on philosophy of Sir Isaac Newton, he had to go on to London, where he was invited to the Royal Society, received by the Queen, and met Hervey. Hervey was only one of many of both sexes who fell for him but not with the passion he had shown for Fox. At the end he wrote Algarotti, “If you go or if you stay, do not forget me, Moncher, I shall never forget you all my life.” These are the words of a mature man no beset longer by the stormy heats of youth.

Lord Hervey was an important man of his time and country. Not top drawer, but still the sort who keeps the wheels of government and society turning. He was another intellectual who kept civilization moving on ward.

MINUTES OF THE NOV. 3rd BOARD MEETING

Introduction

Members present for the Board Meeting were Dick Moore, Rafael De Jesus, Rick Knoll, Larry Jeffries, Joe Saman, and Bob McSherry. Larry Nelson, Treasurer, was absent due to work. There were no visitors.

Dick Moore, President, called the meeting to order at 12:45 pm. Rick Knoll, Secretary, called the roll and announced we have a quorum.

Old Business

Board-Member-At-Large: Bob McSherry.

Bob reported that he had been asked by a member if we couldn't change our luncheon venue from the way we do it now to having two lunches a month at some place up north and the other two lunches down south here at the Golden Corral. It was agreed upon by everyone that that would not work, for several reasons, number one being that we have a good rapport with the Golden Corral which we do not want to put in jeopardy. Number two, everyone knows this is where we meet every week and if we start jumping around from one place to another, it would get very confusing and we would have people showing up at the wrong place all the time. The logistics would be crazy. It was a definite "NO".

A member had approached Bob and said he thought we should try to greet visitors better at our luncheons. We always try to introduce any visitors but I'm sure there are times when we may slip up.

If you see anyone that you don't know, say hello and introduce yourself.

Financial Report

The Financial Report was prepared by Larry Nelson and distributed to the Board at the meeting by Dick Moore, President in the absence of Larry Nelson. (see page 2). The summary of the Denver Credit Union accounts were reviewed. A motion to approve the Treasurer's report was made by Larry Jeffries, second by Rafael and approved unanimously.

Membership Chairman: Larry Jeffries.

Larry reported that we had lost a few members this past month do to nonpayment of dues and two who have passed away but with a couple of new members and some delinquent dues that were paid, we are back up to a membership of 170. A first was made by Bob McSherry and a second was made by Joe Saman and approved unanimously.

Activities Coordinator: Joe Saman.

Joe said he hated to sound boring but everything was running fine. The Christmas Party, an email has been sent to the North Pole to contact Santa, and we even have a group of singers from Harmony who will be entertaining us. It should be a fun time for all. A first was made by Larry and a second was made by Rafael and approved unanimously.

New Business

Our sincere condolence goes out to Worldwide President, Jack Nimmo on the passing of his partner, Tim Butler.

Dick announced that we are going to finish out the year doing the Beer Busts at the Trade that we had signed up for. They like our work and say that our Beer Busts are always successful. If you are available to come out and help us out, it would be very much appreciated. There are sign-up sheets on the tables in the back of the dining room on Wednesday's. We may be cutting back after the first of the year.

I was not able to attend the Casino Bus Trip to Blackhawk, I understand that it went very well. They were able to get us a executive smaller bus that was very nice.

We seem to be getting a good return on the ballots this year. Now we have to try to have the updates done on the By-Laws by the end of next month and then we can start the New Year with a fairly clean slate.

The next Board Meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, December 5, 2018 at 1:00 pm at the Golden Corral after lunch.

A motion to adjourn the meeting was made by Rafael De Jesus, seconded by Rick Knoll and approved unanimously. The meeting was adjourned at 1:15. The next board meeting will be on Wednesday, Dec. 5, 2018.

Our best wishes go out to Geof Jones
and Jack Sexton
for a quick recovery from their operations.

Get Well Soon Guys!!!

Let Me Finish

Here Are 17 of the Biggest Myths About Being A Gay Man!

Myth #1: In pop culture.

Truth: Just like any other person, gay men can have all types of friends, non-fabulous girl friends, gay men and yes, straight men too.

Myth #2: Gay men are either super effeminate or super macho.

Truth: Of course, both of those “types” exist, but, there’s a whole spectrum of personalities. Just like you’d find with, ya know, people in general.

Myth #3: Effeminate men are usually “bottoms.”

Truth: A person’s preferred role in sex has NOTHING to do with their personality.

Myth #4: All gay men are spectacular dancers.

Truth: That’s another generalization, people.

Myth #5: Anal sex is as easy as cracking open a can of soda.

Truth: It takes some serious time and preparation, people.

Myth #6: Gay men are always super extravagant, especially when it comes to the way they dress.

Truth: Obviously, style and manner of dress varies by the person.

Myth #7: Gay men are all also super extroverted, dramatic and talk really loudly.

Truth: Hate to break it to you, but nope.

Myth #8: Every gay man is dying to be a drag queen.

Truth: Some gay men like to dress in drag, but some don’t. Plus, many guys who dress in drag are straight.

Myth #9: Musical theater is like the gay man’s gospel.

Truth: Nope! Again, taste vary widely.

Myth #10: All gay men are open to having a threesome.

Truth: Nope! It’s a matter of personal preference.

Myth #11: All gay men are obsessed with pop divas.

Truth: This is definitely a common passion, but plenty of gay men prefer different musical genres.

Myth #12: All gay men are promiscuous.

Truth: Nope! That’s a total generalization.

Myth #13: All gay men have a huge fetish for leather.

Truth: Sorry to disappoint, but not every gay man will have a leather harness in their closet.

Myth #14: Gay men want to hook up with their straight friends.

Truth: Most gay men, just like most people, view friends and potential hookups differently.

Myth #15: All gay men have perfectly toned bodies.

Truth: “Stay with us” Just like everyone else, gay men have all kinds of body shapes and sizes.

Myth #16: All gay men are fashion experts.

Truth: Not all gay guys pay attention to trends and fashion. They do as they please, just like everyone else.

Myth #17: All gay men are only interested in sex.

Truth: Many gay men seek meaningful relationships, just like everyone else does.

So, every gay man is unique and deserves to be valued for who they are . . . no matter what pop culture dictates!!!
